Notes about following results

- Here you'll see some of the first-page search results appearing for a film production company's website. Zen Fires' role was to execute first-time SEO setups for a new, small website as a one-time project.
- Note that these include results for keyword phrases that are national (no location named) as well as those for three regional office locations.
- This is important because we have not yet achieved Google location claims to those office – which we will, and at which point SEO should only get better!
- Also note that for all location-neutral search results, they should also appear first page results when coupled with the cities in the search terms.
- In fact, the results should be even higher on page 1 when coupled with specific locations.
